The Why

God created each person with different skills and passions. Some people are meant to be pastors or ministry leaders, but most people work in the marketplace. There is a gap between sacred work and secular work, and most Christian business professionals carry the false view that their “regular job” has nothing to do with their faith. But God has called all of us – regardless of vocation – to live on mission!

Have you ever considered that God might use your career to advance His kingdom? Southeast has a vision of seeing professionals take their career to the nations. We want to see people leverage their God-given skills and fully embrace the vocation in which God has placed them.

The Arabian Peninsula

The Arabian Peninsula is the largest peninsula in the world. It includes the countries of Saudi Arabia, Oman, Yemen, Kuwait, Bahrain, Qatar, and the United Arab Emirates. These countries are among the least evangelized in the world with approximately 92% of the total population remaining unreached.

This is an area with significant global influence, but just one generation ago there were only nomadic tribes living in tents and traveling by camel. Everything changed when oil was discovered in the 1930s off the coast of Bahrain. Neighboring countries learned soon after that they too were among these fields of “black gold.” The discovery of oil in the region sparked a massive economic boom that continues to this day. Industries started developing not long after oil was discovered, and these countries have experienced exponential growth over the past 40+ years. We are, however, seeing a shift as these global leaders diversify their economies away from oil. Industries such as healthcare, education, hospitality, finance, technology, and real estate are growing rapidly. These countries need business professionals to keep up with unprecedented growth and industry demands.

The Opportunity

Investment and growth in the Middle East have created not only major needs for employment, but an unprecedented window into a historically challenging place for gospel advance. There is an abundant need for professionals, and Southeast has the opportunity to leverage professional roles to make a gospel impact. We want to unleash the full force of our church to love the people in this part of the world one at a time. We want to see people in professional roles, but beyond that we want to see kids play at the parks, students attend the schools, and families become a part of the community.

We want to come alongside existing churches there to help make an impact. Jesus commands us to make disciples of all nations (Matthew 28:19). He has prepared good works for His church (Ephesians 2:10). He has gifted His people with skills, intelligence, and knowledge (Exodus 35:31). He has given us an opportunity, and we are committed to answering the call.
